Our man Johnny is away again on his adventures. Although a professional BOTM, he is currently working undercover in Japan posing as a leading international physicist.

Those Japanese girls better watch out, especially if they speak Swedish and were born in Finland. As usual agent Johnny is kitted out with the latest in surveillance tools which means he can take as many pictures as he wants, but as we can see from this example, (and there are many like it) he needs advice as to what to take pictures of. Please could you offer suggestions on this website of useful things for Johnny to photograph?
